Aims and Objectives
Aim: To integrate Healthy Campus into Sustainability within Trinity’s structures, in terms of governance and action.
Objectives:

1. Articulate links between Healthy Trinity and other university units, particularly the newly formed unit, Trinity Sustainability;
2. Ensure Vice-Provost-level support for and engagement in the Healthy Trinity initiative and its activities taking a whole-university approach;
3. Contribute to the formation of Trinity’s sustainability targets and activities within Trinity’s Sustainability Strategy and Action Plan.

Aligned frameworks, policies, or strategies
Trinity Strategy 2020-2025 – Goal 8.7 “Encourage the physical, mental and social health of the whole College community through implementation of the Healthy Trinity initiative.”
Trinity Sustainability Strategy 2023-2030 – Target 3. “Healthy Trinity by 2030”
Healthy Trinity Terms of Reference – Goal 1 “Embed health into all aspects of campus culture, across the administration, operations, student, services and academic mandates.”
UN Sustainable Development Goals – Goal 3 “Good health and well-being”
UN Sustainable Development Goals Wedding Cake – shows the biosphere as the foundation of society including Goal 3 “Good health and well-being”
WHO One Health initiative – Pathway 2 “Organizational and institutional development, implementation and sectoral integration”

Project Collaborators
Participation: Trinity has over 100 academic, professional and student partners who have collaborated to date and will continue to do so. These partners are students and staff from across all three faculties (with particularly strong support from the Faculty of Health Science, the School of Medicine and the School of Business), in all health services (Health, Counselling, Sport, Disability) and in many services (Library, Global).
Partnership: Partners outside Trinity are many but include the Health Service Executive, DFHERIS, the HEA, Healthy Ireland, other HEIs, the National Transport Authority and others.

Key Learning Points
We’re at a critical turning point for Trinity, a turning point in human history. We have the opportunity to make the changes that are needed, and so we should be genuine, work together, help each other, look beyond the walls of Trinity, and treat the earth like a friend.
Much of our systemic progress to date has occurred through the generosity of champions who take on extra work to embed health and sustainability in everything Trinity does. That generosity has most often occurred where partners are committed to Trinity’s mission and have long-term or permanent working contracts that support relationship building.
